Efficient nitrogen use is one of the biggest challenges turf managers face today. It is essential to maximise budget efficiency, minimise nutrient loss, and uphold environmental responsibility.

When urea is applied, it immediately begins breaking down through volatilisation, leading to nitrogen losses of up to 30% before the nutrients even reach the soil. The LIQUIMAXX range is designed to combat this issue, incorporating NBPT, an additive that inhibits urease activity. This suppression extends the window for nitrogen incorporation by up to two weeks, significantly improving efficiency.

Once in the soil, nitrogen faces another challenge—nitrification. This is especially problematic in sandy soils and under frequent irrigation. To address this, LIQUIMAXX products contain a denitrification inhibitor, Dicyandiamide (DCD), which slows down this conversion, keeping nitrogen available for longer and enhancing its uptake by the turf.

A premium blend of stabilised nitrogen with iron and magnesium to assist in the production of excess chlorophyll for a longer-lasting deep green appearance and high quality growth.
